Dear Dale:

I hope you're enjoying your new offices!

We wanted to write you a letter to not only thank you for your business, but to also tell you how much we've enjoyed working with you on this project. Providing health screening to help people become informed of possible risks is a wonderful service and it is apparent that you and your staff take it very seriously. Managing your personal health as you age is often taken lightly, and we were proud to play our part in the inception of your company.

As Architects we believe that it is our responsibility to serve the public and it is always an inspiration to work with a client who feels the same dedication to helping others. You and your staff are incredible clients and we look forward to working with you again as HealthYes! grows.

Cordially,
